ROTARIAN COMEDY STARTS ALL NYACK
Mayor's Arrest in Bridge's Finery Furnishes Publicity That Packs Theatre.

'THE WOMANLESS WEDDING'
Justice Temple, Solicitor's Staff Cographer, and the Show is to Be Repeated.

Special to The New York Times.

NYACK, N. Y., April 18.—Nyack was the scene of a comedy called "The Womanless Wedding," and it provided an opportunity for an impromptu comedy of its own. The frontrunner of the show, Mayor Fred B. Frew, the bridgehead of tonight's production, was arrested by the police of Nyack, and the incident was too remarkable to be passed over. The mayor was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The arrest of the mayor and the resultant publicity brought such a demand on the theatre for tickets that the manager's performance that shortly before noon every seat in the auditorium where the show was to be given, was sold. The police department was unable to cope with the demand, and the mayor was arrested for not paying for the tickets.

The mayor's arrest was announced at the theatre, and the mayor was released on a charge of disorderly conduct. The mayor was released and then arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

DEATH OF DR. NORRIS
Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.

Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner for the City of New York, died Sunday on the body of Mrs. Anna Allison, the wife of Dr. Norris, who died at 114 West Seventy-Fifth Street in a room on the second floor of the apartment building. Dr. Norris, a native of New York, and a graduate of Columbia University, was known as "Dr. Henry Green," who was a prominent physician in the city. The cause of death was a heart attack.

Despite anything that any dramatic critic might say, the honour was a success. The mayor said that the performance was a success, and then he was arrested in front of his residence, and the arrest was the result of his public display of finery. The mayor was wearing a suit of clothes that was not in accordance with the rules of the police department. The mayor was arrested and then released on a charge of disorderly conduct.

AUTOPSY ON MRS. ALLISON

Death from Criminal Operation Is Alleged in Case of Mrs. Allison.