WHERE TWO U. S. ARMY BOMBERS CARRIED ELEVEN TO DEATH IN COLLISION OVER QUEENS RESIDENTIAL SECTION

Sky-Watchers Filled With Horror As Army Bombers Crash and Burn

Residents of Bellerose Manor Describe the Moments of Suspense When Planes Locked Wings and Plunged to Earth

One of the bombs fell through the area near the poured concrete foundation of a house in Bellerose Manor. The other was located in the basement of a house. The building was completely destroyed by the explosion. The bomb in the basement was still intact and could be seen through the hole in the floor. The second bomb was completely melted and could not be found. The two bombs were found to be packed with high explosives. The occupants of the house were not injured. The explosion caused extensive damage to the building. The bomb in the basement was still intact and could be seen through the hole in the floor. The second bomb was completely melted and could not be found. The two bombs were found to be packed with high explosives. The occupants of the house were not injured. The explosion caused extensive damage to the building. The bomb in the basement was still intact and could be seen through the hole in the floor. The second bomb was completely melted and could not be found. The two bombs were found to be packed with high explosives. The occupants of the house were not injured. The explosion caused extensive damage to the building.